DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Applicant's election with traverse of Group I, claims 1-22 in the reply filed on July 15, 2005, is acknowledged. The traversal is on the ground(s) that the subject matter of the two groups are sufficiently related so as not to present a burden to the examiner. This is not found persuasive because the search required for the method claims is not required for the product claims. Although the product claims include limitations to the time and temperature of the drawing step (i.e., method limitations), said method limitations are not necessarily requirements of the product claim search. As such, searching the method claims along with the product claims would require a burdensome search.
2. The requirement is still deemed proper and is therefore made FINAL. Claims 23-33 are hereby withdrawn as non-elected.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claims 1-22 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over US 4,897,989 issued to Gray.

Gray discloses a pile fabric comprising a three-ply pile yarn including two non-textured yarns (abstract). Said pile yarns are tufted into a base fabric (col. 2, lines 29-37). The preferred yarn is polyester (i.e., Dacron) (col. 1, lines 36-44). Although Gray fails to explicitly teach the fabric gauge and average void area, Figures 7 and 8 clearly show a significant reduction in average void area between tuft rows compared to the prior art pile fabrics of Figures 5 and 6 (col. 2, line 61 - col. 3, line 8). Since the principle of reduced void area is disclosed by Gray, the specific amounts of void area corresponding to the specified fabric gauge is readily obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art. It has been held that where the general conditions of a claim are disclosed in the prior art, discovering the optimum or workable ranges involves only routine skill in the art. In re Aller, 105 USPQ 233. Thus, claims 1, 5, 6, 11, and 12 are rejected as being obvious over the Gray invention.

With respect to claims 2-4, Gray does not disclose the cross-sectional geometry or aspect ratio of the polyester filaments. However, circular and shaped cross-sections are common in the art of pile fabrics. Applicant is hereby given Official Notice of this fact. Additionally, the advantages and relationships of various cross-sectional shapes and aspect ratios are well established and predictable in the art. As such, selection of a particular filament cross-sectional shape and aspect ratio is readily obvious over the prior art. The examiner notes that the facts asserted to be common and well-known are capable of instant and unquestionable demonstration as being well-known. To adequately traverse such a finding, applicant must specifically point out the supposed errors in the examiner's action, which would include stating why the noticed fact is not considered to be common knowledge or well-known in the art. Furthermore, optimization of a result effective variable and changing the shape of an article is held to be within the level of ordinary skill in the art. Therefore, claims 2-4 are also rejected.

Art Unit: 1771

With respect to claim 13, Gray fails to explicitly teach the polyester yarn is a partially oriented yarn (POY). However, the Type 56T Dacron polyester employed by Gray is known to be partially oriented polyester yarn. Note US 5,858,885 issued to Hamilton et al., col. 9, lines 19-23. Hence, claim 13 is also rejected.

Regarding claims 7-10 and 14-22, it is argued that said claims are also obvious over the cited Gray reference. While said claims limit various process steps in the manufacture of the fiber, said process steps are not given patentable weight at this time. It is the examiner's position that the fibers of Gray are identical or only slightly different than the presently claimed fibers and fabric prepared by the method presently claimed. Even though product-by-process claims are limited by and defined by the process, determination of patentability is based on the product itself. The patentability of a product does not depend on its method of production. If the product in the product-by-process claim is the same as or an obvious variant from a product of the prior art, the claim is unpatentable even though the prior product was made by a different process. In re Thorpe, 227 USPQ 964. The burden has been shifted to the Applicant to show unobvious differences between the claimed product and the prior art product. In re Marosi, 218 USPQ 289. Therefore, claims 7-10 and 14-22 are rejected.
